GERMANY FAILS TO MAKE PAYMENT OF ONE BILLION GOLD MARKS AS DEMANDED BY REPARATION COM.

March 23 was Date Agreed Upon for First Payment by Allied Commission when Reparations Were Finally Decided Upon—Instead of Paying up Ask to Have Discussion Reopened

CONFISCATION OF PROPERTY URGED.

Paris, March 23.—The possibility of a further invasion of German territory looked imminent today. It was believed the Allied reparations commission would consider the advance of Allied troops into other rich industrial sections of Germany. Confiscation of property was urged in some quarters. Proponents of the idea declare the German government could not reimburse its cities which lose property in that manner.

The Allies had set today, March 23, as the date upon which Germany must pay one billion gold marks of the indemnity. Instead of paying, the German government asked for a reopening of the entire discussion.

French officials especially resented the note. They declared it ignored the demand for payment set for today and showed that the Germans were determined to reopen and settle the terms in their own way. Resentment was so keen that the reparations commission was expected to "put the screws to Germany."

PROHIBITION REGULATIONS WILL ALLOW DOCTORS TO ORDER 'LITTLE KEG' A MONTH

By James T. Kolbert

Washington, March 23.—Principal provisions of the new regulations coming into effect by the ruling of former Attorney General Palmer for the manufacture and sale of beer and medicine were learned today by the United Press.

They are in brief: That a doctor may prescribe 4 7-8 gallons of beer for each ailing patient during any 30 days period that the doctor must give good and sufficient reasons for prescribing beer.

He must not prescribe the maximum oftener than every 30 days but there is no limit to the number of patients for whom he may prescribe.

Manufacture of real beer cannot be carried on in the same plants used for the manufacture of near beer which contains 1-2 of one per cent alcohol.

Breweries will sell only to wholesale druggists, who in turn will sell to retail druggists who will have to have permit to sell real beer.

These provisions as outlined were drawn up by Internal Revenue Commissioner Williams, a Democratic appointee. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon must approve them if he said and he is reluctant to do so until they are reviewed by a Republican internal revenue commission.

President Harding has let it be known that he is in no hurry to appoint a commissioner. The new commissioner may approve the present tentative regulations or order new one drawn up.

STILLMAN'S ATTORNEY MAKES OPEN CHARGE OF INFIDELITY AGAINST WIFE

White Plains, N. Y., March 23.—The veil of threatened secrecy was ripped from the Stillman divorce scandal today. Delancey Nicoll, attorney for James A. Stillman, the millionaire financier, openly charged in court that Mrs. Stillman "took as her lover an Indian guide and had a child by him."

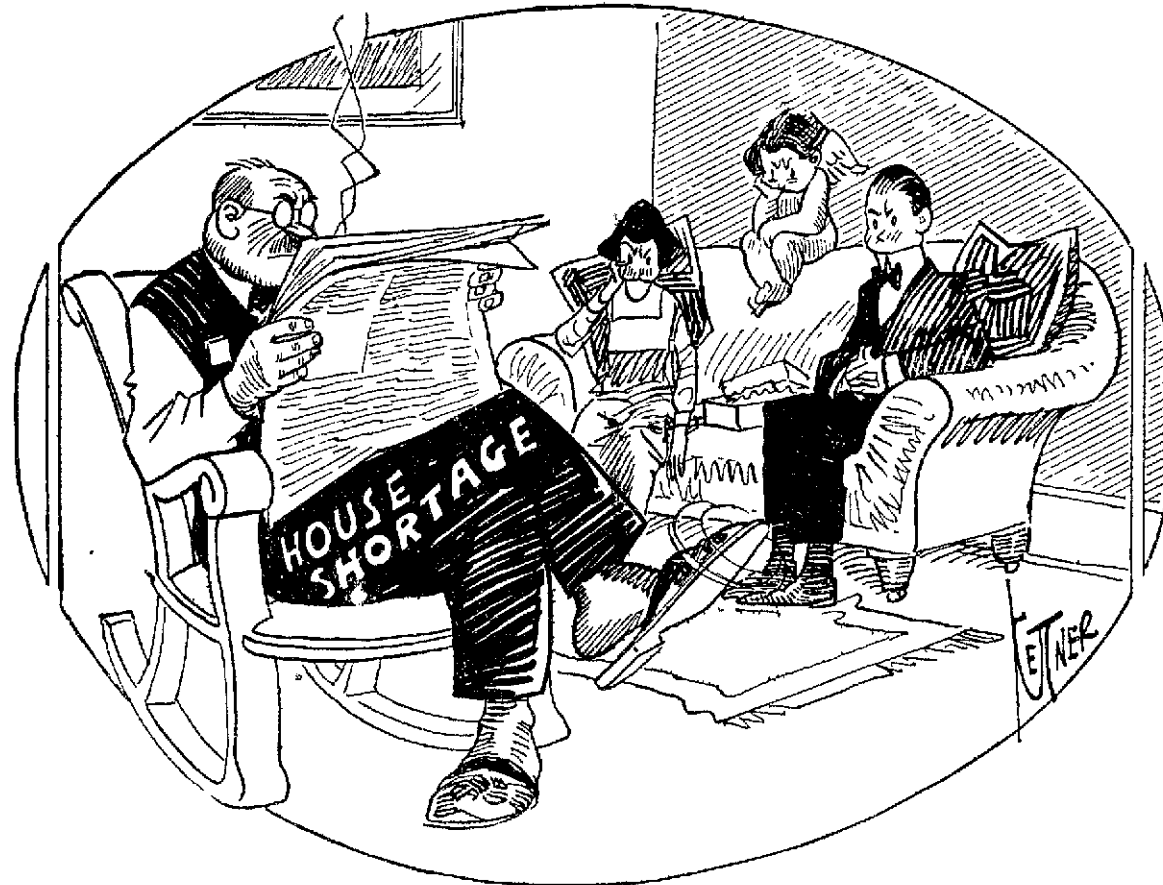

He declared six witnesses already had testified to this effect in secret hearings. Charges that have been merely whispered were shouted aloud in court in the presence of an eager swarm of spectators as attorneys wrangled over the question at issue, whether Stillman should be forced to pay Mrs. Stillman $10,000 a month alimony pending trial of the case. This application was taken under advisement by the judge. Stillman's income last year was $336,000, it was learned.

Although Stillman charged that his wife was intimate with Fred Beauvais, Mrs. Stillman's attorneys failed to bring in the name of Mrs. Florence Leeds, who has been mentioned by Mrs. Stillman in her charge. The only reference in that direction was made by Nicoll himself when in reviewing the case he said, "and now Mrs. Stillman makes charges."

John Mack, guardian of the interests of Guy Stillman, the alleged illegitimate child, declared that the baby's legitimacy could not be denied. He declared that witnesses would show that James Stillman and no other man was the father of Guy Stillman.

Abraham Levy, one of Mrs. Stillman's attorneys, said "Mrs. Stillman fights not only for her life but for the life of her child. She will prove herself innocent of the charges of alleged infidelity made by Mr. Stillman."

DUBOIS EXPERT PICKS ALL-LEAGUE BALL TOSSERS

League Referee Gillung Finds
Three Topnotchers on Clearfield High Team—
Punxsy Star at Center

AGREES WITH OUR DOPE

"Hap" Gillung, City Editor of the DuBois Express, and a league referee who knows basketball from every angle, picks an "all league" team and in giving his reasons therefor has the following to say of the Clearfield boys selected for the "team."

The "All" team, as we take it, should be the best combination of five players and a substitute or two, available from the fifty players used by the six teams in the league in playing their league games. And here's where we get one out of our raw that could surely wallop the daylight out of any combination that could be selected from the remaining players. It is

Ammerman	F	Clearfield
Neff	F	Clearfield
Thoreson	C	Punxsutawney
Gaibraith	G	Brookville
Norris	G	Clearfield
Substitutes	Moore, Brookville,
	Williams, Punxsutawney

First glance at this outfit shows that it is radical. Neither Neff nor Gaibraith is picked for the position they played all year. But a little deeper persual will show that it has the prime requisite of height that is being found so much in demand by 1921 high school team.

From the first Bill Ammerman is a foregone conclusion at forward, not only because he is the biggest forward in the league and has the best record for scoring from under the basket, but because he proved to be Clearfield's main-stem in her hard games, and virtually turned the tide of defeat in the first Brookville game and set his team back winning after it had been dropped from first place by Punxsutawney.

We have Schettine, White and Moore for the other forward. Schettine is an "in and out" but has been "in" most all season and without him, his team would have dropped clean out of the league. Moore was responsible for the Brookville victory over Punxsutawney the only game it won from the leading division team. White is a heavy scorer. But this selection is solved when the center problem is figured out. We find that there are a trio of centers all measuring up on top of either of these forwards in team value. They are Neff, Gaibraith and Thoreson.

Each is a captain and the leading spirit of his team. Neff is the best scorer and offensive man. Furthermore he has height and can shoot foul better than any man in the league. He is picked along side of Ammerman and the value of this pair's combination work is preserved.

There are several candidates left for the other guard. Williams has been a sturdy man, keeping his on

POULATION OF ITALY GROWING TOO RAPIDLY

Three Hundred Thousand Emigrate Largely to U. S. and Argentine During Last Year

SEND HOME BIG SUMS

Rome, March 23.—Despite the emigration restrictions that are still in force in many countries since the war, Italy's emigration statistics for 1920, just completed, show that her ever increasing excess of population cannot be kept at home.

As in pre-war years, the United States and Argentine continue to be the two great drawing centers for Italian emigrants. Although Italy's emigration for 1920 is still a long way from equaling the figures attained before the war, yet the increase over that of 1919 is very great.

In 1913, the last year before the war broke up Italy's normal emigration currents, her emigration reached the total of 872,595. During the war all emigration ceased.

In 1919 her emigration reached only 56,598, but in 1920 attained a total of 365,000, or nearly half of the 1913 record. Unless emigration restrictions of foreign countries limit this human current, Italian emigration authorities are confident that the present year will see the normal pre-war emigration reestablished.

One of the most important benefits which Italy counts on receiving from her emigrating class now is that of their contribution towards the reestablishment of Italian exchange. All Italian emigrants invariably send home a large part of their savings and these can be counted on to build up a nice little hoard of foreign credits and moneys that will go far towards reestablishing the foreign exchange of the lira.

Italian emigration divides itself into two currents, that which goes merely to European countries and that which is transoceanic. The former for 1920 was 211,227, while continental emigration was only 153,717.

During the past year the emigration to the United States, guarded that of 1919.

"LITTLE ENTENTE" BEING FORMED FOR BALKANS

New Political Map of "Europe's Powder Magazine" Embraces Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Roumania

GREECE PRO-GERMAN

Athens, March 23.—That a new map of middle Europe and the Balkans is in the making and bears the indelible marks of the Quai d'Orsay is the widespread conviction of Greek statesmen here.

To most of western Europe Greece carries indisputable evidences of pro-Germanism, a trait that in itself alone is sufficient to draw down the uncompromising hostility of France.

Since Constantine's return, French and British diplomats have had nothing to do with the new government. Serbian, Belgian, Portuguese and other nations dominated by the Allies have been non-committal. The Yugoslaves have actually been openly hostile. Roumania's attitude also has given the government here no little worry and embarrassment.

The attitude of the American legation—one of the most influential legations in Athens—has been that of "watchful waiting" or "benevolent neutrality."

The new political map of the Balkans, according to authoritative entente source, calls for a reorganized "Little Entente." The first "Little Entente" was chiefly the work of Take Jonsescu, Roumanian premier and foreign minister. It consisted of a so-called combination of Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Roumania. Greece favored it because it fortified her against future aggression on the part of Bulgaria and Turkey. Roumania figured that it would help her retain permanently the Dobruja and other territory wrested from Bulgaria and Austria-Hungary by Yugoslavia, at that time engaged in discussions over Fiume and Dalmatia.

ERIE-HARRISBURG ROAD GIVEN STATE BACKING

HARRISBURG, March 21.—Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler today informed a Jefferson county delegation the state would back the "all seasons roadway" from Erie to Harrisburg by way of Meadville, Franklin, Clarion, Brookville, DuBois, Clearfield, Bellefonte and Lewistown.

Arrangements were made for the state to co-operate with Jefferson county in expenditure of $500,000 devoted for road improvements, but the Brookville-Punxsutawney road project was held a matter for the Jefferson commissioners.

There is $114,000 to the credit of Jefferson county on state aid work

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD FIRST TO MAKE SWEEPING WAGE CUTS, VICE PRES. ATTERBURY ANNOUNCES

Other Railroads Expected to Follow Lead of the Pennsylvania as Law Creating Labor Board Lacks Teeth and Power to Prevent Reduction at will of Employers Even if Cut is Protested by Employees

EMPLOYEES LOOK FOR CONFERENCE

Chicago, March 23.—Employees of the Pennsylvania lines today were served notice that their wages must be slashed. W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsy, served the wage cut ultimatum on the employees. His note was conciliatory in tone but expressed determination to effect the wage cut. It is expected that other railroads would follow the lead of the Pennsylvania.

Employees were confronted with this situation. The United States Railroad Labor Board, which was established during the war to arbitrate difficulties between the railroad management and their employees, is powerless to prevent the reduction because the law creating the board has no teeth in it. All the board can do, according to the transportation act, is to make public its findings.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, said he did not understand by Atterbury's statement that the Pennsylvania contemplated ignoring the Railroad Labor Board. "The railroad like others is simply filing notice of its cut in wages," said Jewell. "I suppose they will call a conference with employees, as is provided for in the transportation act, and after failing to agree on the wage schedule will go before the United States Railroad Labor Board."

CARDINAL GIBBONS AGAIN CRITICALLY ILL AT HIS BALTIMORE HOME

Baltimore, March 23.—Cardinal Gibbons is critically ill and his death may come at any time it was learned at his residence today. It was stated there was no change in his condition over night. The cardinal's condition became alarming Sunday night and since that time constant watch has been kept at his bed side.

SOLDIER'S BONUS AND NON-PARTISAN JUDICIAL REPEAL GO TO GOV. SPROUL

Harrisburg, March 23.—The Whitaker soldier bonus bill, providing for a thirty-five million dollar bond issue, went to the governor for his signature today. It has passed the Senate and the House.

Harrisburg, March 23.—The Eyre bill, repealing the non-partisan election of judges, passed the Senate by a bare majority after Senator Vane, of Philadelphia, had been found and brought to the chamber.

He cast the vote which passed the bill. The senator was in a barber's chair.

BLOODSHED CONTINUES IN IRELAND

Cork, March 23.—Eight Sinn Feiners were killed today at Dingle in the county of Kerry in a battle with Crown forces. Twenty Republicans were reported wounded and four police men wounded.

SWINDLERS AFTER EX-SERVICE MEN

Washington, March 23.—Swindlers are seeking to extort $5 from ex-service men in return for obtaining for them articles of uniform and equipment to which they are entitled from the government, according to information received by the American Legion. The adjutant general has appealed to the legion to aid in frustrating the plans of the bunco men.

The government, according to the adjutant general, is required by law to provide to veterans of the World War certain articles of clothing and equipment, if they were not issued on discharge. Eligible ex-service men should get in touch with the nearest quartermaster depot, post office of the American Legion or write direct to the quartermaster general, of the army, Washington, D. C. It is not necessary to pay a cent to anyone to obtain the missing articles.

Well Known Astronomer Gains Twenty-four Pounds by Taking Tanlac

Everybody in Washington, Pennsylvania, either knows or has heard of Paul Schimack, the astronomer and weather prophet, whose theories and forecasts attract attention over the entire state. Mr. Schimack enjoys a wide reputation as a writer and public speaker. His home address is corner of Hallam and Duncan streets, Washington, Penn. On account of his prominence his recent experience with Tanlac will be read with interest. He says:

"Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine. It came to my aid when I was almost convinced that nothing would ever help me. For three years I had been trying to get relief from stomach trouble and other complaints, but the money I spent was wasted, as I kept getting worse all the time. I lived for a long time on 18 pounds in weight and became so weak and nervous I had to give up my work."

"Tanlac acted as if it had been for my particular case. It gave me a splendid appetite and toned up my system so my digestion is perfect. I've gained back the 18 pounds I lost and have picked up six pounds more, just for good measure. Nobody could sleep any sounder than I do now or feel any finer in the morning. I've gone back to work feeling like I have been given a new lease on life."

"The good Tanlac did me can't be measured in dollars and cents, for good health is priceless. I wouldn't take a fortune for the way I feel right now. I would like to tell the world that Tanlac is the best of all medicines."

Mrs. Jos. E. Phillips and daughter, Mabel left on the 1:15 train for Harrisburg, where they will meet Mr. Phillips and then spend a week with their son, Millard at Atlantic City.

Do YOU Suffer from Headache?

Reading, Pa.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines restored me to health and I might say saved my life when all other medical aid had failed to give any relief. I suffered with feminine weakness for over a year. I seemed to have pains and aches all through my body, but especially suffered from headaches. The more I doctored the worse I got. I finally decided to write to Dr. Pierce for advice, and, following his instructions, I took the 'Favorite Prescription', the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' and the relief I obtained from their use the first week convinced me that they were just the medicines fitted to my case. I kept up their use and was completely restored to perfect health which I am still enjoying."—MRS. ANNA HAUBERLIN, 1111 Walnut St. and an old good druggist.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

Poor weak man. Is there to be no "safe harbor" for him or is he condemned to forever be the prey of dashing, designing cruel and fickle woman. Here we were congratulating ourselves on having arrived at the half way journey down life's path way without once having been "vamped" by a single "vamp," and then in the belief that now that nature and the 18th Amendment had combined to make us virtuous and happy, we were through with the dangers and pitfalls necessary to be avoided, only to be told by Mrs. Sophia Fairclough-Smith, an English psychic, that we will be forced to run the gauntlet of soulful, dreamy dark eyes, and willowy, sylphlike forms somewhere in the hereafter. It is too much. But our friend Mrs. Fairclough-Smith (you can disagree with her if you want to) holds out eternal trouble for man in the astral world. The astral world Mrs. Fairclough-Smith stated, is not all heavenly. There are evil spirits as well. In fact, it is pretty well filled with pulling downward, and thus the uninitiated is not only in danger of the living vampires, but the dead ones as well, who fall upon him in an evil moment.

We are now beginning to have some hope for the regeneration of the Russian bolshevik. The American Red Star League of Chicago recently shipped seventeen thousand pounds of soap to Moscow. That is estimated to be enough to wash one million Russians. There is no lever quite so democratic as soap and if it be possible to give every red in Russia a bath that benighted country will soon be restored to "normalcy". What they need is more soap.

Republics are not very grateful as a rule. However the Graves Registration Service of the U. S. Army has just decided that the American flags which cover the casket of each soldier returned from France for burial, may be kept by his parents or relatives or turned over to any post of the American Legion. This is alright in its way, but there are so many petty things done by the government on the other hand. A local case will serve to illustrate our story. During the world war a Clearfield lad went out with "the colors" early in 1918 when the allies were calling for American soldiers and more Americans. This lad spent a very short time in the training camp and by reason of the shortness of the time and the dereliction of his company officers, whose duty it was to see that he took out war risk insurance, he was hustled out of camp and onto the transport without having secured any insurance. He got the flu and died of pneumonia before reaching the other side.

When entering the service the service the young soldier made the usual $15 dollar per month allotment to his mother and the same, with the government allowance of an equal amount was sent to the boy's mother each month until notice of his death reached the War Department. By the time the department had received this notice the sorrow-stricken mother, grieving over the untimely death of her first born, was overpaid the paltry sum of $30.

Think of this awful expenditure, and then, too, think of the prodigious waste of untold millions in ship yards, airplane and every other line of construction and purchase during the war, without any thought or hope of come-back, and then listen while we tell you that every few weeks since the overpayment of $30 to the mother of a dead soldier was discovered, that mother has had her feelings harrowed by an insistent demand for the return of one month's allotment of $30 overpaid.

Think of it. The amount would have been returned at that time, had it not been for the interference and counsel of friends, who shocked and surprised by the penuriousness of the whole transaction advised letting the government go bankrupt before paying any heed to the many requests for return.

What this government owes that mother is a pension for her son's death instead of a haunting for a paltry $30 which she is far more entitled to than is the government which demands it back.

Don't you think so dear Columbian reader.

Mrs. J. T. McGill was called to Williamsport this morning on account of the serious illness of her mother.

TAXED TO DEATH

It takes revenue to run a government, be it national, state or municipal. You've got to have money for necessary expenses in government, just the same as you have to use money in ordinary, every-day business life. And no loyal, patriotic citizen is going to kick on taxes that are just and equitable.

But at the present time this country seems to be running tax-mad. Not only has the tax question become the principal problem and topic of conversation in Congress, but every state legislature seems to have caught the fever. And all this comes on top of the income tax, admittedly the hardest tax burden the American people have had to bear. Instead of planning long-time payments so the expense of the World War can be scattered along into the years to come, there seems to be an inclination on the part of some lawmakers to pay off the war debt in a very few installments. And today Americans are being taxed to the breaking point.

There isn't a man to whom we have talked, who objects to paying a reasonable amount of taxes. But when assessment after assessment is piled upon him, and when state governments begin to talk of a state income tax in addition to the national income tax, he speaks out in no uncertain terms and doesn't mince words in condemning such legislation. No man wants to escape paying a just part of the revenue necessary to keep our government going. But he does kick, and he has a right to kick, when taxation gets to be a habit instead of a necessity.

Our whole system of taxes is based on the fraudulent idea that by levying "invisible" and "class" taxes the howl of the taxpayer is lessened. Every Congress seeks to levy taxes in such a manner that the taxpayer will not know he is paying it. Whether the taxes are visible or invisible we pay them; whether they are direct or indirect taxes we pay them, and in the indirectness of the schemes we pay an unusually large sum for the collecting of them. If we could but come to a realization of the fact that we are paying for every function of government in a thousand different ways we would without doubt set about to set up a system of tax laying and collection which would enable every citizen to know at the end of each year just how much tax he has paid.

"Dear knows how long I sat there napping; all I know is that I was awakened by the sound of three men talking. I got up, and didn't know did they say but what I heard. They were talking in Spanish, but I understood them well enough. They're at the Hotel Webster, say, you know, his name is Webster, but Webster. He's an American, an' a big, savage, lookin' but at that, so take me advice an' be careful. Do ye two keep an eye on him wherever he goes, an' if we should sleep out at night an' wake up through a dark shireet, do ye see to it that he's put where he'll not interfere again in Don Felipe's affairs. No damn gringo-beggin' yer pardon, Miss—can interfere in the work at the intelligence bureau at a time like this, in addition to insultin' our honored chief, w/out the necessity a' bein' measured for a coffin. 'Si, mi general,' says another lad, an' 'To be sure, mi general,' says a third; an' w/it that the general, bad cess to him, went back to the palace an' the other two walked on up the calle an' away from the shtirly-box."

"Did you come out and follow them?" Webster demanded briskly. "Faith, I did. Wan av them is Francisco Arredondo, a young cavalry lieutenant, an' the other was Captain Jose Benavides, him that do be the best pistol-shot an' swordsmen in the spigoty army."

"What kind of looking man is this Benavides, my friend?" "A rail, thin young man, w/it a dude's moustache an' a diamond ring on his right hand. He do be whiter nor most. Have a care would ye meet him around the city an' let him peek a fight w/it ye. An' have a care, sor, would ye go out av a night."

"Thank you, Don Juan. You're the soul of kindness. What else do you know?"

"Well," Don Juan replied with a naive grin, "I did know somethin' else, but shure, Master Geary advised me to forget it. I was w/it him in the launch last night."

Webster stepped out of the veranda and laid a friendly hand on Don Juan Cafetero's shoulder. "Don Juan," he said gently, "I'm going back to the United States very soon. Would you like to come with me?"

Don Juan's watery eyes grew a shade mistier, if possible. He shook his head. "Widin' I'm drunk here, sor," he replied, "no wan pays any attention to us, but in America they'd give me ten days in the horse-garage w/out a week. Thank you, sor, but I'll stay here till the finish."

He knew the strength of the Demon and had long since ceased to fight even a rear-guard action. Webster put a hand under the stubby chin and tilted Don Juan's head sharply. "Hold up your head," he commanded.

"You're the first of your breed I ever saw who would admit he was whipped. Here's five dollars for you—five dollars gold. Take it and return with the piece intact to-morrow morning, Don Juan Cafetero."

Don Juan Cafetero's wondering glance met Webster's directly, wavered, sought the ground, but at a jerk on his chin came back and stayed. Thus for at least ten seconds they gazed at each other; then Webster spoke. "Thank you," he said.

"My name is John J. Cafferty," the lost one quavered.

"Round one for Cafferty," Webster laughed. "Good-bye now, until nine to-morrow. I'll expect you here, John, without fail." And he took the derelict's hand and wrung it heartily.

"Well," Webster remarked humorously to Dolores as he held out his cup for more tea, "If I'm not the original Tumble Tom, I hope I may never see the back of my neck."

"Do you attach any importance to Don Juan's story?" she asked anxiously.

"Yes, but not so much as Don Juan does. I greatly fear I have managed to snarl myself up in a Sobrenano political intrigue, when I haven't the slightest interest either way. However, that's only one more reason why I should finish my work here and get back to Denver."

"But how did all this happen, Mr. Webster?"

"Like shooting fish in a dry lake, Miss Rucy," Webster replied, and related to her in detail the story of his adventure with the Sobrenano assassins in Jackson square and his subsequent meeting with Andrew Bowers aboard La Estrella.

Dolores laughed long and heartily as Webster told his humorous recital. "Billy told me God only made one Jack Webster and then destroyed the mold; I believe Billy is right. But do tell me what became of this extraordinary and unbidden guest."

"The night the steamer arrived in port, Billy and Don Juan came out in a launch to say 'Hello,' so I seized upon the opportunity to tell Andrew

Trade News of Local Interest

As a result of a meeting of the miners at Rosister, at which time President John Brophy and Vice President Marks were present, the strike, which has been in progress at that place for a month, was declared off, the men returning to work last week.

The strike at this mines followed as a result of the company installing punch clocks, requiring that all day men punch the clock when they went to work and when they quit. The day men refused to do this, and the entire operation was tied up. This condition lasted for one month, and gave promise of continuing until the mass meeting was held, at which time a majority of the men voted to return to work. The clocks remained stationed and the men are punching them. The strikers claimed that the installation of the clocks was a violation of the wage agreement in District No. 2.

Advertising scored another triumph in Clearfield on Saturday afternoon last when Market street, in front of the Electric Supply Company's store, was literally jammed with people.

The occasion was the giving away of a Free-Westinghouse Electric Sewing machine by Mr. W. W. Wrigley, of the Electric Supply Co. How the machine was given away is the theme of our tale and the incidents connected thereto form an advertising story that is really another victory for the art.

Beginning with about a week's notice, advertising copy was run in the Progress advising the people of this city and environs that on Saturday afternoon an electric sewing machine would be given away free to the person in the crowd holding a ticket showing a number, determined by a majority vote of the people present.

The city had been canvassed by boys who distributed coupons and attention was drawn to the coupons all thru the advertising. Mrs. Neff, the efficient demonstrator of the Free-Westinghouse Company, had been explaining the details of the machine to callers at the store all during the week.

As the time drew near on Saturday afternoon the street became more and more impassable. After a demonstration of the fine points of the machine were given by Mr. Jensen, Miss Eisenhauer was selected from those present and brought to the platform. Then Mrs. Scott Norris and Mrs. E. E. Claver were appointed as judges to see that the numbers were called as pulled from the box. The majority of the folks wanted No. 13 to get the machine so 13 it was. As Number 10, Number 11 and Number 12 were drawn the excitement became intense and when little Miss Eisenhauer reached into the box for Number 13 there was a great silence. Then there was a moment of suspense while the two judges decided that all requirements in filling out the coupon had been met, it was announced that Mrs. V. N. Herlster, of Mt. Union, Pa., was the lucky person who would receive one of these wonderful machines simply for the trouble of filling in the little coupon. As her name was announced she was escorted to the platform where she ecstatically embraced the little lady who assisted in the drawing.

That it was a clear exposition of what cards-on-the-table advertising would do the Progress feels that, in view of the fact that the Service Department of the paper handled the newspaper work all thru, nothing could be more conclusive as to the pulling power of advertising properly done.

GOLDINE IS THE ONLY THING THAT EVER HELPED HER FOR STOMACH TROUBLE.

We have thousands of statements from people who have used this remedy and found that their stomach trouble was relieved at once.

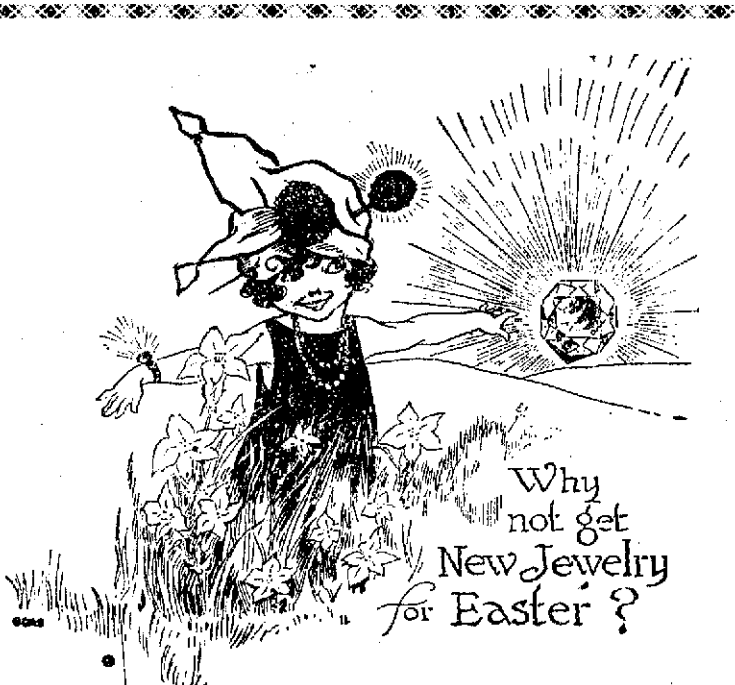

Take, for instance, the statement of Mrs. L. Spiller, of 917 Campbell Ave., Schenectady, who says: "I wasn't able to get a jump much for over three years. My stomach gave an awful lot of trouble and nothing I got seemed to help me. My appetite went back on me and I was constipated and had distress after eating. I heard of Goldine and went for a bottle. I've taken it only a week but I'm feeling a whole lot better, my stomach is giving me no trouble at all, and, oh, my appetite! I'm eating as I used to and it surely seems good to have a regular meal without suffering afterwards. I think Goldine is wonderful."

Keep The Egg
Basket Full!

The feed elements that make whites of eggs are entirely different from those that make yolks. When hens aren't fed both the white and yolk making elements, they can't keep the egg basket full. The usual method of feeding mostly grain makes yolks but not enough whites to complete the eggs.

Missouri Experiment Station tests prove that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks to 154 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulas produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:

	Yolks	Whites
Purina Hen Chow	247.49	142.11
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05	282.55
Combined Ration	429.54	424.66

These Purina chows not only make a practically equal number of whites and yolks but more of both than ordinary chows.

Note that Purina Chicken Chowder contains the necessary white-forming elements to balance up the yolk-making ration. That's why it makes hens lay so many whites. Instead of the yolks being absorbed by the hen's system, Purina Chicken Chowder makes the whites complete the eggs and they are laid. That we can absolutely guarantee.

Hot Water Each Morning
Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best, the alimentary tract, before putting more is to enjoy an inside bath each morning fed into the stomach.

To flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of indigestible material in the form of billious spells, acid stomach or constipation. So the food and drink taken each day should begin this phosphated hot day leave in the alimentary organs a water drinking and are assured of very certain amount of indigestible material, pronounced results in one or two weeks, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy blood in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing and purifying the entire

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, and freshens the skin on the outside, so as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is as important as outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do. Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

Farm Accounts

Did you experience any difficulty in preparing figures for your income tax return? The farmer who maintained his farm account books had no trouble at all. April 1 is a good time to start farm accounts. Obtain a book from the county agent today.

Clean Seed

Seed for all small grains, grasses and clover should be cleaned with a good fanning mill before planting. It makes for the freedom of weeds, a better stand and a larger yield for the crop grown. Clean your seed now before the rush of seeding time arrives.

Dairy Pasture

If you are likely to be short of pasture for dairy cows next July or August, plan now to sow oats and Canada field peas at the rate of one and one-half bushel per acre, during the latter part of April for July feeding. For August feeding soybeans should be sown during the latter part of May at the rate of one bushel per acre.

Garden

Sand in liberal amounts may well be mixed with soil intended for growing vegetable plants, provided water is applied frequently. Sand encourages root growth and discourages diseases of seedling plants.

Poultry

In operating the incubators, one can do no better than follow the manufacturer's directions. To open the machine before the hatching is complete may result in a severe loss. To increase the temperature in the incubator to 105 degrees during the last two days may increase the percent hatch.

Farm Sanitation

It is unnecessary to add chemicals to the septic tank for the decomposition of sewage, according to State College specialists. The bacteria present in the waste automatically disposes of it if the tank is properly constructed.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common Garden Sage and Sulphur Makes Streaked, Faded or Gray Hair Dark and Youthful at Once

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Spring Lambs
At this time of year it is important that the shepherd take every precaution to start the lambs on grain as soon as they commence eat, at two or three weeks of age. Grain gives strength, insures larger lambs, quick maturity and provides more weight when marketed.

Oat Smut

Diseases of oats carried over on surface borne fungi, such as smut, can be largely controlled by the "dry method" of formaldehyde spraying. Spread the oat seed on a dry, clean barn floor, and give each shovelful a good spraying as it is turned over. Use commercial formaldehyde in a 50-50 solution with water.

Woodlot Plantings

Early Spring is the time to plant seeds in the farm woodlot. Seeds lying on the ground will have difficulty in forcing the new root below the surface and will not develop. Why not collect acorns and other seeds which are usually to be found on the ground after the snow has gone, and plant them? A stick will make a large enough hole and such seeds will germinate early. It is a better, quicker and cheaper method than tree planting.

Agricultural Notes

Fifteen thousand bushels of Lancaster sure crop corn were sold for seed in Pennsylvania last year.

No opportunity for testing seed corn should be passed up by any farmer, according to advices from the State College school of agriculture.

Two thousand pounds of paper twine and eleven dipping tanks were purchased by Pennsylvania sheep growers last year through State College agricultural extension sheep management demonstration work.

to jump overboard and swim to the beach. Gave him a little note to Billy—carried it in his mouth—insisting Billy to do the right thing by him—and Andrew is up to and I don't care. Where I was raised we let every man roll his own hoop. All I hope is that they don't shoot Andrew. If they do, I fear I'll weep. He's certainly a skookum lad. Do you know, Miss Ruer, I love anybody that can impose on me—make a monkey out of me, in fact—and make me like it?"

"That's so comforting," she remarked dryly. Webster looked at her sharply, suspiciously; her words were susceptible of a dual interpretation. Her next sentence, however, dissipated this impression. "Because it confirms what I told you this afternoon when I read your palm," she added.

"You didn't know how truly you spoke when you referred to the dark man that had crossed my path. He's uncomfortably real—drat him!"

"Then you are really concerned?" "Not a call, but I purpose sleeping with one eye open. I shan't permit myself to feel concerned until they send more than two men after me—say eight or ten."

His indifference appalled her; she leaned forward impulsively and laid a hand on his forearm. "But you must heed Don Juan's warning," she declared seriously. "You must not go out alone at night."

He grinned boyishly. "Of course not, Miss Ruer. You're going to ride out with me this evening."

"I'm not, I'll not subject you to risk."

"Very well; then I shall drive out alone."

"You're a despot, Mr. Webster—a regular despot."

"Likewise a free agent."

"I'll go with you."

"I thought so. For what hour shall I order the carriage?"

"Seven-thirty. After all, they'll not dare to murder you on the Malacca."

"I agree with you. It will have to be done very quietly, if at all. You've been mighty nice to me this afternoon, seers; I shall be grateful right up to the moment of dissolution."

"Speak softly but carry a big stick," she warned him.

"A big gun," he corrected her. "Two of them, in fact."

"Sensible man! I'm not going to worry about you, Mr. Webster." She nodded her permission for him to retire, and as he walked down the veranda and into the hotel, her glance followed him with pardonable feminine curiosity, marking the breadth of his shoulders, the quick, springy stride, the alert, erect pose of his head on the powerful neck.

"A deer of deeds are you, John Stuart Webster," she almost whispered. "As Kipling would say: 'Wallah! But you are a man!'"

A stealthy footstep sounded below the veranda: she turned and beheld Don Juan Cafetero, his hat in his left hand, in his right a gold-piece which he held toward her.

"Take it, allanah," he wheezed in his hoarse, drunkard's whisper. "Keep it for me till to-morrow, for sorra wan av me can I trust to do that same—av be the same token I can't face that big tina without it."

"Why not, Don Juan?"

He hung his red head. "I dunno, Miss," he replied miserably. "Maybe 'tis on account av him—the eye av him—the way av him—divil such a man did I ever meet—God bless him! Shure, Mister Geary do be the fine lad, but he—"

"Mr. Geary never put a big forefinger under your chin and bade you hold up your head. Is that it?"

"'Tis not what he did, Miss but the way he did it. All the bends av hell 'll be at me this night to spend what he give me—and I'm afraid—"

RECENT DEATHS IN THIS REGION

MRS. JOHN KLINE

Mrs. John Kline died at her home in Mt. Zion, Sunday morning Mar. 20, 1921, aged 77 years, 9 months and 6 days.

She leaves to mourn her death one son and four daughters, viz: Martin Effie and Cora, all of Clearfield; Mrs. Guy Charlton, of Akron, O., and Mrs. Maggie Vanbort, of Richmond, Pa. She is also survived by a sister and two brothers: Mrs. Sue Owens, of Mt. Joy, and John and William Beaumont, of Mt. Zion.

Blest are the sufferers who partake, Of pain and shame for Jesus sake; Their souls shall triumph in the Lord;

Glory and Joy are their reward, The Lamb shall lead His heavenly flock, Where living fountains rise, And love Divine shall wipe away The sorrows of their eyes.

MRS. GEORGE ELLINGER

Mrs. Geo. Ellinger died on Sunday March 13th, at her home in Pike twp. aged 63 years, 7 months and 9 days. She had been a sufferer of cancerous affection for nearly four years. She was the mother of seven children, all living but one, and was also survived by her husband. She was blessed by the loving care of all her children from the time she became ill, part of them with her at all times. And all were with her when the Lord saw fit to take her from this world of suffering.

She was rational and knew every one until the end when she seemed to pass away peacefully and apparently without pain.

She had always been a good and a praying woman and a sister in the Brethren church and she had many friends wherever she was known.

And if all would follow her advice there would none go wrong.

She was a loving mother and a good wife. She had doctored with nearly everyone that thought could benefit her or help her, but all in vain. Not one thing seemed to be of any benefit to her. But we know she is now at rest for the first time in four years.

The funeral was held on Tuesday March 15th. Interment in the Woods cemetery, Rev. G. D. Cleaver officiating.

Mrs. T. H. Langford and daughter Esther, of Surveyor, spent today shopping in town.

Miss Katharine Sample, of Banion, spent yesterday with her aunt, Mrs. John H. Moore.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

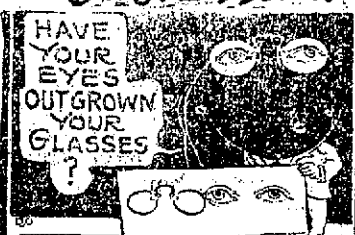

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Mustard does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Mustard into with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Mustard for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

If you are still using the glasses that were prescribed for you two years ago it is highly probable that you should have your eyes re-examined. The eye-formations are constantly undergoing a change. It may be that the muscles that accommodate the focusing apparatus have become strengthened and that you will be able to do without glasses or use lenses that are less in strength.

Shoe Three Feet Long. The latticed snowshoe resembles in a general way a large tennis racket, with the handle missing. The body of the shoe is two or three feet long and twelve inches or more wide at the broadest part, says the American Forestry Magazine. The skin is of ash, hickory or elm. The ski is made of beech, birch, maple, ash or spruce.
